Patricia Cassonnet, Studies in Late-Egyptian : the i-sdm.f and i-iri.f sdm_second tenses, between syntax and semantics (in French).

Librairie Cybèle, 65 bis rue Galande, 75005 Paris ,
347 p., 14 x 22,5 cm, broché, ISBN 2-9512092-5-8.

- Second tenses are focalizing forms which belong to the suffix conjugation : they are used to promote an adverbial adjunct into a marked rheme.
- This work essentially focused on the synchronic study of i-sdm.f and i-iri.f second tenses in an extended text corpus which spans the era from the beginning of the 19th dynasty to the end of the 21th. More than 325 second tenses examples have been recorded.
